The goods of the earth are there for everyone. The common good consists not only of the material or external good of all human beings; it also includes the comprehensive good of the human being, including even the spiritual good. The common good of society is not an end in itself. It is only part of a bigger picture, the ultimate end of which is God. The common good, as a mere materialistic socio-economic ideal, would count for little without any transcendental goal. The Common Good and Politics
